

My job requires travel all over the southwest. Many locations on some of the reservations don't even have radio stations. XM is my primary source for current news and weather. When I have to go to large towns, (Albq, Phoenix, LA, San Diego, Las Vegas) I need traffic and weather information. I don't know the local stations or which ones I can find reliable traffic and weather. This is a tool that I am willing to pay for that I can not get anyplace else. Why is an organization that is sponsored by companies that can not provide this service at any price trying to restrict my access to information?
